PATHOLOGY REPORT

Clinical Information.	Abdominal pain and distension following a laparoscopic cyst removal, and the corresponding aspiration cytology.
Nature of specimen.	Aspiration cytology

GROSS:

One smear was prepared and stained from submitted 5 ml of aspirated brown fluid with pus.

MICROSCOPIC:

Smears are hemorrhagic and show a marked number of neutrophils and small lymphocytes. No evidence of atypical or malignant cells.

DIAGNOSIS:

Cyst fluid, cytology:

- Marked (suppurative) inflammatory changes consistent with abscess formation.
- Negative for malignant cells.
